

JOACHIM GARRAUD

A seminal figure in the electronic music scene for over 30 years, Joachim Garraud played a pivotal role in the global rise of the French Touch. Classically trained at the conservatory in piano and percussion, he evolved into a formidable sound architect, co-producing planetary hits and collaborating with legends such as David Guetta, Jean-Michel Jarre, David Bowie, and Kylie Minogue.

But Joachim is much more than a studio wizard: he is a pioneer of the electronic "Live" performance who has united a unique community, the "Space Invaders," around a shared passion for technology and music. Always striving for innovation, he is now exploring new horizons from his base in California with LAGoodVibe, his 100% solar-powered mobile studio, and his company Studio Design, which is reimagining the acoustics and aesthetics of creative spaces.

This philosophy of knowledge-sharing reaches its peak on February 7, 2026, with the release of his landmark autobiography: "I Love My DJ Life". True to his geek DNA, he delivers an interactive 528-page book, enhanced with 579 QR Codes that allow readers to access audio and video archives linked to each story. Blending technical expertise, human adventure, and exclusive behind-the-scenes anecdotes, Joachim Garraud continues to write his legacy, with his eyes firmly set on the future.

Today, Joachim Garraud has produced nearly 300 titles and played close to 900 shows on 5 continents.
