Pukupuku travel

PukuPuku Travel is the result of the collaboration of two passionate about trekking in the majestic mountains of the Peruvian Andes: Ricardo Reategui, whose training was forged in the fascinating volcanic region of Arequipa, and Ibeth Bocangel, a proud representative of the capital of the ancient Inca Empire, Cusco. Both are experts in the tourism industry; she excels in commercial and administrative areas, while he specializes in security and wilderness care. In 2013, they decided to pool their talents and resources to offer an unparalleled selection of programs that encompass adventure, trekking, archaeology, culture, gastronomy and community-based tourism. Since its inception, their focus has been firmly oriented towards eco-responsible tourism, with a clear commitment to generating a positive social impact.

PukuPuku Travel has made a thorough selection and training of its team of experts, including travel consultants, cultural and mountain guides, reservation executives, cooks, porters, among others. For 10 consecutive years, we have had the honor of being the official operator of the renowned Inca Trail, an achievement that has been reflected in several awards and certifications granted by both national and international organizations.

Every year, PukuPuku Travel welcomes travelers from all over the world who wish to get to know Peru in an authentic and serene way, respecting the environment and local cultures.
