WAVE MAN

Logline

The best fighter of the ancient Wave Men Order is contacted for a new mission. He has to forever defeat the face of Evil that returned to the attack. Thanks to technologies from the 3050 district and new powers of the Order, through clashes and events the hero Taira will be able to save humanity, offering everyone the right to survive in a new future.

Synopsis

Through a fantastic way, the film is about man's choices in relation to safeguarding the world and the chance of better living in our future. In today's society, the plot is developed by suggesting to the protagonist and key characters good or bad situations through scenarios of technological research and futurism or dark situations linked to the occult. An eternal conflict that has always linked man and the unknown or rather an eternal battle between God and Satan. An apparently normal flow of life that merges with parallel worlds actually, like the dark intangible one of sects, possessions and Hell and the futuristic one of 3050 district which will belong to men. The latter includes technological developments but especially the values on which this new human future will be born, worthy of knowing how to live and a strong sense of civilization. The protagonist will try to preserve the best of this current life in order to guarantee the beginning of a better future: this is renewed and re-evaluated from an environmental and human standpoint, trying to fight to be able to offer today's world the right of choice. A fantastic story with great human depth.
